(A unit of Scholeio (OPC) Pvt Ltd)

Workshop series

Learning and knowledge acquisition is always the way forward in life. It should be put to creative and constructive usage, else the learning does not serve its purpose. Theories are important but they should be pragmatic and applicable. At times teaching and training is complex and not relevant. This series of workshop aims to enable learning in an applied and simplistic manner.

Scholeio Education offers certificate courses/workshops and training programs to faculty and students on various themes from the Management domain.

About Scholeio (OPC) Private Limited: It is a new age private company, operating into education sector with a focus on training, research educational event management and educational content development. It is managed by Dr Moid Ahmad (Founder-Director) who has over 18 years of experience of teaching, training and research. For more details visit, www.myscholeio.com

Workshop 1: FDP on EXCEL in Teaching and Learning (for faculty)

Workshop 2: Certificate course on EXCEL in Management (for students)

Overview: An understanding of MS-EXCEL has become a prerequisite for a management role in an organization in current times. It becomes more important, particularly in managerial roles involving working on data in general and financial data in particular. Thus, it has become an integral part of Management education and the faculty members are also required to be well versed with it. In increasingly technology dependent world this skill becomes further more relevant and critical. MS-Excel has also become imbedded in the modern day teaching-learning process and thus it becomes very imperative for educators, teachers and trainers to be proficient in usage of MS-Excel.

Course Objective: The objective of the workshop/course is to train and enable participants to use MS-EXCEL to their advantage to take informed decisions and increase efficiency in teaching and learning.

Learning outcomes: After taking the course, the participants would achieve the following:

- To be able to use tools and techniques in teaching and learning processes.
- To be able to increase their efficiency levels in research and data analysis.
- Become familiar and confident in using MS-EXCEL for relevant personal finance and managerial decisions.
